

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 14, 1887.

PREACHING.—Reader, if we were a person, what do you suppose we would do?—Something odd, perhaps you will say—but something very much needed, as we think. We should want to preach about half the time, but certainly as often as once a month from a certain passage of the Scripture commonly called the "Golden Rule" the straightest, handsomest, and most excellent rule ever laid down in this lower world, for the regulation of every body's duty toward every body else—of course a rule of the utmost importance to the rights, peace and happiness of all, yet, somehow, very widely and sadly disregarded. We have seen sometimes thought we should like to see every preacher in the land throw overboard all other topics for awhile, and discourse upon this one theme alone: its universal applicability, its paramount obligation, and its glorious fruits. We have an idea that if we were a good smart "minister," we could preach a bran new and attractive sermon on that text every Sabbath, for a whole year.

What's the matter with our Republican brethren, out in New York State?—They had a large political capital, last year, in the shape of Presidential, Gubernatorial, and Legislative majority—and now they have come out pretty much as the mammoth and loud-crowling Banks did, a short time ago, in their commercial capital. We did not expect them to do so well as last year—there were obvious reasons why they should not—but we certainly did not expect to see 80 or 100 thousand of them fold their arms and refuse to vote at all at the late election. There cause is a just and noble one—why should they act thus unjustly and ignominiously toward it? Not so do the Republicans of Massachusetts, Vermont and Rhode Island. Behold the old Bay State—still proudly erect, and crowned with more than Roman wreaths of victory! Why should the Empire State fall back, in the glorious contest.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED.—The charitable disposed, and we hope the multitude who can give will be more charitably disposed than ever, should remember in giving that not the most noisy are the most deserving. It is no sign of real want to rob the bakers' carts and bakers' baskets, or to countenance those who look on and see it done, especially when the bread is wasted and not eaten. The least deserving of the poor are those who make the greatest demonstration of their necessities, and the most deserving are those who are suffering in quiet and need to be sought out and relieved.

What is needed now next to labor, and all ought to provide it who can, is systematic giving, and that as far as possible in connection with the established charities of the city. Two or three of these societies, which we brought prominently to notice the other day, are extending relief upon the plan of visitation, and all giving, not of this character, or where the persons are unknown, is of doubtful utility. There is leisure enough among the benevolent, just now, to see that only the really deserving receive of the bounty offered. The times demand wisdom in council, generosity in gifts, but above all things the giving of work, where it can be done, to the honest and industrious poor.—N. Y. Express.

SHIPPING INTERESTS.—Nearly two hundred, and fifty ships, barks, and brigs are now in this port, and the prospects for business are gloomy in the extreme. The low prices of cotton operate to limit greatly the shipment of that article, the small quantities of breadstuffs on the Atlantic seaboard check nearly all European freights; the troubles in India and the great stock here of all India goods, operate most unfavorably against any new enterprises in that quarter, and there are no charters offered save to a few ports, such as London and Liverpool, to carry to those markets goods that cannot be sold here at any price. Our warehouses are crowded with goods from all parts of the world, and particularly from the East Indies, for which there is no sale, nor will be for months to come, such is the complete and entire stagnation of our manufacturing interests. Some twenty ships are still on the way here from the East Indies, but no new voyages of any consequence are commenced to that quarter, such are the disastrous results of all present operations. This cessation will finally be a benefit to the trade in two ways; first, by reducing the exorbitant prices demanded in India for their staples, and next by enabling us by-and-by to get rid of the enormous stocks now on hand in the market.—Carrier & Enquirer.

BAYONETS, SELF-GOVERNMENT, ETC.—The Boston Courier asks:— "Does New York mean to convince the world that under our institutions six hundred thousand men can govern themselves without the bayonet? If so, it is high time they were sitting in the business." We can "govern" ourselves, if we had only ourselves to govern—but with some two hundred thousand Germans, Irish and other European born and bred "citizens" in our midst,—some of them trying to Red-Republicanize us,—what can we do? Within pistol shot of where we pen this, Federal "bayonets" are glistering in the Sub-Treasury vaults, and Government troops are billeting in the Custom House, to protect the public Treasury from plunder. It is not an agreeable spectacle,—but what can be done?—N. Y. Express.

We are always hearing of some great French invention. But the invention which interests me just now is Champlin's Xylophorum, or Hair Invigorator and Restorative, which makes one's hair grow,—not as if the Old Scratch was after him—hence, then he will need no scratch or wig. It merely grows fast, luxuriant and beautiful. Sold by R. J. Taylor.

RAILROAD FOR SALE.—The Alexandria (Inde) states that the Alexandria and Washington railroad, with its locomotives and cars, will be offered at public sale on the 1st December next.

THE LECTURE BY PROFESSOR HARKNESS on Thursday evening, was a remarkably polished and cultivated production, his subject was Ancient Greece and Athens, which he illustrated from a number of well executed sketches taken by himself on the ground. He spoke of the civilization of the Grecians as comparing favorably with the present age, and drew a parallel between the character of Theseus, the founder of the city, and our Washington, he said that the taste and gold of the Athenians were lavished upon their Temples and their Gods, whilst the private houses were plain and unpretending, for every citizen of Athens lived in the whole city and considered it part of himself, whilst his own house was but a place where he slept, he gave a glowing and beautiful description of the statues of Phidias and the immortal art and imperishable colors of Athenian Painters. But we will not attempt to give even the outline of his lecture, it was attentively heard by what we regret to call a small audience.

The committee have used every endeavor to secure lecturers of ability and reputation to fill the course, and if there is neither good taste or generosity enough left in Newport, to even half fill the hall, they can only deplore the condition to which we are gradually tending, and will try to induce Professor Macy of New Bedford celebrity to open another course, with the "Dark Ages" for his theme and the illustrations around him.

In Providence, New Bedford, Bristol, Warren and all our sister cities and towns Lyceum Lectures are generously patronized and sustained, they are made the occasions of social re-union and agreeable as well as, instructive entertainment. If we could impute the "hoggedly account of empty" seats, to domestic taste and love of home, we might consider it pardonable; but it is not this, and our readers know it, it is a sheer, bald deficiency of literary taste in our midst, and the fact is too apparent to be disguised, and this it is that throngs the bar-room and leaves the Lecture Hall deserted, that agitates the tongues of talking women, instead of their exhibiting the good taste to remain silent for an hour, in the presence of an accomplished speaker, it sends men grumbling to their homes at seven o'clock, to find a discontented wife and badly washed and worse combed children, when the husband might hear an improving and interesting address from a Lecturer and communicate the information he has received to his family, as well as profit by it himself.

So far the Lectures have not paid expenses, but they will be regularly continued, and the deficiency made up by the Committee, assisted by the liberality of a few friends. The trouble and annoyance of arranging a course of Lectures and securing and paying Lecturers is essentially a labor of love, and unless our friends patronize them more liberally it bids fair to be "Love's labor lost."

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisements of Newton Brothers in another column, from the extended list they offer of groceries, flour, tobacco, pipes and almost every thing else, we are inclined to look upon their big brick store as a kind of horn of plenty, which the Captain lifts up and the General holds open.

Think of it! they are the possessors of forty-two boxes of clay pipes, enough for all creation to be smoking with at once.—What on earth will they do with "forty-two boxes of clay pipes" Suppose there is a thousand pipes in every box, they are the owners of 42,000 pipes! enough to blow all the bubbles in Wall street, and do all the puffing of a thousand editors.—Messrs. Newton, Brothers advertise that they will sell cheap for cash, and we doubt not they will comply with their promises.

We see by the New York papers that there are evidences of a renewal of the "Flour riots" of 1837, in that city, large and excited meetings have been held in Tomkins Square, and have been addressed by incendiary speakers. May or Wood appears endeavoring to conciliate them by specious promises, which will all vanish into thin air after the election. Thank God we live in Newport, quiet as it is for.

"With all thy faults, we love thee Still."

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.—One day last week, says the Eastern Argus, a merchant in Gardiner, Me., offered to give a barrel of flour to Rev. Charles Blake, a Baptist minister in that city, provided the young ladies would haul it to him. To this they consented, and having obtained a small pair of trucks, the barrel of flour was placed thereon, and about forty young ladies took hold of the ropes and drew the barrel about half a mile, up one of the steepest hills in Gardiner, to the minister's house. The Gardiner Band, seeing what was going on, headed the procession, and played some excellent music. There was a large crowd to witness the proceedings, and a cabinet maker brought out a very handsome rocking chair, which he fastened to the barrel, and let it go as an additional present to the minister.

A NEW MATERIAL FOR SCULPTORS.—The Day Book says that "The bronze statue of Washington, the property of Mr. Thom, the artist, recently placed in the Park, was sold yesterday to satisfy a mortgage of $500." Pray Mr. Day Book, what is bronze stone? Considering that Mr. Thom has been dead and buried for several years, we are afraid he will not be much benefited by the $210 his statue sold for.

The following communication was handed us by its author who assured us that the remains from the Arnold Burial Ground took place in the day time and no efforts were made for the concealment of the matter as our correspondent ANTIQUARIAN erroneously supposed.

(For the Daily News.)

The Arnold Burial Ground.

Messrs. Editors: The removal of the remains of deceased persons has become so common that few families exist who have not performed this respectful service to some of their ancestors. The Society of Friends in Providence, at this present time removing their entire burial premises to a more eligible situation in the north part of that city. Nor do any object because the land was given forever for that purpose. Cities and States hesitate not to do so, if the good of the public is supposed to be thereby promoted.

Some twenty years since, Capt. Augustus N. Littlefield having purchased the surrounding land, and built thereon his present mansion house, had the burial square suitably fenced, and the grave stones placed over the graves as accurately as he could designate them, and planted all the shrubbery that has grown within it. Nevertheless, it being much dilapidated, and presenting to the visitor a literal illustration of mortality, several persons have at various times expressed to him a desire that these relics of so much mortality might be carefully removed to some suitable ground, and their monuments restored to their original forms. But an objection existed, as was conceived, in the will of Gov. Arnold, to such a removal. And a still stronger objection in the absence of funds. It was believed, however, and the opinion is still entertained, that the will of Gov. A. will be fully carried out if the premises of a burial ground be deeded to the city, and the dead which are now interred in his square, can be buried there; for, in such a case, the fee will be as the monument, not in buried out and, therefore, can never run out. For the repair of the present ground, not a solitary heifer has done anything since the revolution; and persons have had for a century free ingress to play therein at their pleasure; a liberty which many of our inhabitants well remember of enjoying when they were children.

Under these circumstances Capt. L. pledged himself to deeded in the name of the Mayor and City of Newport, certain parcels of land in fulfillment of specific purposes which are named in his communication to the City Council, at his expense which, as he says, will exceed $700. The immediate friends of the family, resident in this city, so far as they were known, and many others, had been consulted. The late venerable Thomas Hornsby, after a month's reflection thereon remarked to me: "I believe if Gov. Arnold could speak he would say, not only remove my remains, but Newport owes it as a respect to my memory to do it, and the more I have my most hearty approval." The way to consummate the proposition seemed to have been entirely opened; a proposition desirable under the changes of property; for, the city, and not heirs at law, owning the land for this express purpose the memory of Gov. A., as has been intimated, will be perpetuated, as it cannot be in any other manner, as private grounds are now evincing in our country.

In a letter of great interest, written to the City Council, Capt. L. does not ask an exchange of land, or a deed of the Arnold ground, for it is not the property of the City; but simply, as he had made, as he supposed, every prerequisite arrangement, that they would accept his deed, accompanied as it was with a clear explanation of his intentions; and should they not object, he gave them notice that he should proceed immediately to fulfill his design. In compliance with a properly directed communication until an answer specially signified, which was a week from its receipt; and, then, after a full consultation, and a week's publication of their intention, the site being far more eligible than the old, and no sufficient reason being given to the contrary, they merely accepted his deed.

On the morning following, the remains of Gov. Arnold and of Damaris his wife, were most carefully removed and deposited in the centre of the new City Lot. This lot, from a report of its history, had been designated "The City Antiquarian Lot." It is situated near the centre of the Willow Cemetery, and is by all pronounced to be as beautifully located as any, either in that or in the Island Cemetery adjacent. It contains ample room, not only for the present, but future interments. To that lot have been also removed several of his descendants, and nearly all the remaining are ready to be removed to the positions they occupied in the original ground, near and around their illustrious ancestors. The stones and tables that marked the graves are all to be restored as far as possible, recutting where it is necessary, and repaired, and again to be placed over their remains in their new position and the whole to be surrounded by tasteful posts.

Gov. Arnold made his will after the end of his life. Numerous cases exist in New England where such wills were made, and in the transfer of property, when heirs had ceased to bury in reserved portions, those portions have in time ceased to be excepted, and the graves have been levelled, no one living to mark their location. In some instances, the dead have been disinterred to make way for other purposes, and not even their remains have been preserved. Not so in the case of Gov. A. No mortgage was committed.—Every step, I repeat, was taken that was deemed advisable. The design after numerous consultation, was entered in the centre of the "City Antiquarian Map" in the preceding summer; the letter of Capt. L. to the City Council was published the week previously; and arrangements were made in reply upon the accompanying explanations, and every other precaution was taken to advise of the measure, and in the proper time his remains were conveyed to a resting place, where the whole city will be pledged for their permanent abode. What more can be done to preserve his memory, and to keep him alive in the hearts of many who can now visit his grave?

Objections being raised by several citizens to their removal, Capt. L. will suspend for the present any further action, and if it shall appear desirable, he will at the next meeting of the City Council request them to return to him his deed of the four squares, that he may put back all the remains to their former places; for he has no right to do so without their order, the city now being in possession of the new land by deed properly executed and duly recorded in the Willow Cemetery Corporation, and set up the old stones as they were, without any change in their inscription or form, as he had intended, and thus it will be seen that the measure was conceived in good faith, and in as good faith has been abandoned; for, be assured, the friends thought they had been serving the living and honoring the dead, or they would never have given such attention to mature and perfect their accomplishment of this valued enterprise. And for the failure of which they are neither responsible, nor have they any desire to antagonize the public wishes. Nor will they regret their effort, if the stones of the old ground shall thereby be reinstated and repaired. And also, if the "Arnold Burial Lot," one stone of which forms the footstep of the City House in Frank-street, and another other which bears the inscription of "Mrs Judith, the wife of Major James Brown, 1724," and which lies in the rubbish of the yard, and several others, can likewise hereby receive public attention and public sympathy. And also the Clinton ground, where the remains of Gov's Clarke, Wantons, and several other such lots in the city, that have been so long, and so thoughtlessly, and so irreverently neglected.

It is not that Capt. Littlefield has any desire to remove from his praiseworthy outlay, that he will resort to such a withdrawal, but that he prefers not to lie under the disapprobation of his project, a project that was believed every one would approve, and to which certainly none would object. By such a report the city will lose a public square, beautified at their hand and that without any public charge, and the community, and the visiting stranger, an object of special attraction. H. J. Newport, Nov. 13, 1887.

HEALTHY HEAD.

JAMES PYLE'S DIETETIC SALUTUS. IS among the most important improvements of the present day. Every family throughout this land should be acquainted with its intrinsic value, and thereby escape the many evils arising from the use of common Salutaris—the caustic impurities of which are acknowledged destructive to health, by physicians generally. Common salutaris has the elements of caustic alkali, and readily acts on the lining of the stomach, thus deranging the digestive organs, and paving the way for Dyspepsia and diseases of every kind. Children are the greatest sufferers and frequently die from infantile diseases, which in former years, were successfully treated, even without medical aid. But here is an article to be relied on.

James Pyle's Dietetic Salutaris, the result of many experiments, is entirely different from everything heretofore in use.—The perfection reached in purifying it, makes it as innocuous to the stomach as flour itself, while in point of efficacy it surpasses the best baking soda, and will make bread, biscuit and cake, beautifully light, nutritious, and suitable for the most dyspeptic stomach. Every lady that tries it will use no other.

Beware of Counterfeits.—Our great success has brought out a multitude of poisonous imitations. The genuine is packed in whole, half, and quarter packages, with the name of James Pyle on each. Manufacturing Depot 312 Washington-st., New York.

Providence, July 30, 1887. C. A. P. Mason, Dear Sir:—I am writing the Alpine Hair Balm, which I had of you, with most happy results. On the 30th of June last, my hair (which had been gray for more than six years) was fast falling off; but on the third application of the Balm it ceased falling, and is now firmly rooted, and very nearly its original color. By the use of one bottle, I confidently expect a complete, permanent, luxuriant and original head of hair. If every gray haired man or woman would try it, they would become "live" epistles, known and read of all men, as having used the Alpine Hair Balm. Yours, &c.

TESTIMONY OF A LADY OVER 50 YEARS OF AGE.

Mr. Mason, Sir:—I write to inform you how pleased I am with your Alpine Hair Balm. My hair has been gray for a number of years, and I have been obliged to wear a front piece and cap; but has always found a difficulty when having a bonnet on to keep the front piece from working back and showing the white hair. Finally I concluded I would try your Alpine Hair Balm; I used one bottle only and my hair has come back to its natural color, which was brown. My hair is now perfectly free from dandruff and is soft and glossy. Very respectfully, SARAH LYON.

A CARD TO THE LADIES.
DR. DRUGG'S Golden Periodical Pills for Females. Perfectly harmless, and wonderfully and powerfully efficacious in correcting regulating, and removing all obstruction from whatever cause.
[Medical men know, as well as many others, that no female can enjoy good health, unless she is regular; and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health begins immediately to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females. Headache, Pain in the Side, Palpitation of the Heart, Loathing of Food, and Disturbed Sleep, do not always arise from the obstruction of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remedy all these evils; and may always be used successfully as a preventive. Price $1 per box. For sale at 132 Thames street, corner Church street, and at 12 Washington Square, opposite State House. Orders for the trade so addressed will be supplied at lowest manufacturer's prices. Ladies by enclosing $1 to STEVEN SIOVE, at Newport Post Office, can have the Pills sent (indiscreetly) by mail to any part of the city country.

LOTTERIES.
GEORGIA LOTTERIES.
THE Lotteries of ANDERSON & SON, are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the State, to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawings. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by a special law in that State. A lottery is drawn at Savannah, Ga., about the 15th of every month, and another is drawn at Macon Ga., every Saturday throughout the year. No particular class is named, orders are filled by the first drawing, and the prize is distributed as a result of drawing, or other information forwarded to all purchasers. A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to ANDERSON & SON, MANAGERS, Macon or Savannah, Ga.
Prizes are paid in full, no percentage deducted from prizes, as in other lotteries. All communications are strictly confidential.

MEDICINES.
THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE AGE.
A REMEDY which CURES IN FIVE MINUTES.—M. LEROUX'S French Cholera Cures Bitters. This truly wonderful scientific compound is recommended by the most eminent and learned physicians of all Europe and America, and enjoys the best reputation of anything similar ever offered. It is without doubt, the best most efficient and generally acknowledged remedy against cholera, dysentery, diarrhoea, and complaints of the stomach in general. The numerous patients who have tried it according to directions have invariably found relief in a very short time, and the best proof of this, that since this standard remedy was introduced in the armies of the Allies in the Crimea, the mortality of the soldiers from cholera and similar diseases was diminished by over 75 per cent; in consideration of which, the inventor was presented by the French and English governments with a gold medal, bearing the inscription, "M. LEROUX, the great chemist and inventor, by whose knowledge our armies are preserved from cholera."
This invaluable preparation is also a remedy for biliousness, indigestion, weakness, and general derangement of the stomach. Upon being taken, it creates appetite, and prevents the heaviness attendant upon eating by persons who are dyspeptic.
In this city, also, this remedy has been tried with the most uniform success, and the undersigned can produce the best testimonials of our most celebrated physicians, as to its immediate and complete success, which he will be happy at any time to show to any that may wish to see them.
